INTERNATIONAL PROTOCOL OFFICE

As of November 2021, the Office of International Protocol transitioned from the Secretary of State's Office to the Oklahoma Department of Commerce.

The Office of International Protocol is responsible for Oklahoma's global affairs. As the agency charged with this office, Commerce provides country-specific briefings, and expert protocol assistance, including oversight and technical assistance to Oklahoma officials receiving foreign guests and to officials travelling on behalf of Oklahoma outside the United States. Commerce also serves as the main point of contact for diplomatic visits and events and for coordinating the three sister state relationships Oklahoma has with Gansu Provence, China; Kyoto Prefecture, Japan; and Taiwan.

Christy Busch is the Chief of International Protocol. Busch is also a member of Commerce's Business Development Team, specializing in global recruiting and trade.

For more information on the Office of International Protocol, contact Christy at christy.busch@okcommerce.gov.
Oklahoma Exports to the World

Selling to international markets opens a business to 96% of the world's consumers located in other countries. Oklahoma companies can benefit from exporting their products to markets outside the United States.

“We were very surprised to see the detail to attention and were provided with a list of vetted companies, as well as granted interviews facilitated by Commerce with contacts in Mexico. Oklahoma is showing why it is a terrific place to do business especially, relocating from California where we had little if any support from the state commerce department. We have seen double digit growth over the last few years, excluding 2020 of course, and look forward to continued growth with the help and guidance of Commerce’s Global Team.”

Stephen Tackett, Owner, The Audio Planet

The Oklahoma Department of Commerce works to enhance trade and export opportunities for Oklahoma businesses. A key, and often underutilized, trade asset in the state exists at Oklahoma’s four Foreign Trade Zones. FTZs provide financial incentives for businesses by offering duty deferral on goods that enter the country.

In a state like Oklahoma with a lower than-average cost of doing business, companies with a global supply chain can further improve their bottom lines. This includes a duty and quota charge exemption on imported goods that are later re-exported. Companies can also apply for an inverted tariff for duty reductions if a lower tariff rate will apply to the finished product when it leaves the zone in comparison to the tariff applied on foreign components.

When it comes to logistic costs, companies can also benefit by being granted a weekly, single customs entry charge rather than paying multiple entry fees. The FTZ can also save time for businesses importing components by eliminating duties on rejected and defective items.

The Oklahoma Department of Commerce’s Global Trade Team is a supporting partner with the state’s FTZs.

“These zones can help Oklahoma companies increase their profits and lower their costs,” said Sarah Short, International Trade Specialist, Oklahoma Department of Commerce. “We know that our state’s FTZs are not being optimized by as many companies as they should be and the Oklahoma Department of Commerce is working alongside our FTZs to grow awareness of the program and increase use of these zones.”

is located in the northeast portion of the state surrounding the Tulsa metropolitan area. Run by the City of Tulsa-Rogers County Port Authority, it also contains the Tulsa Port of Catoosa as well as two subzones in the Claremore Industrial Park and Claremore Regional Airport.

is located next to Oklahoma City’s Will Rogers World Airport. FTZ 106 also boasts two magnet sites in Enid Woodring Regional Airport and the Shawnee Regional Airport in addition to a usage driven designated site at VF Jeanswear in Seminole, Okla.

FTZ 227

is located in southeast Oklahoma and serves the nearby Dallas-Fort Worth area. This zone is comprised of the three separate sites: International Business Park of Durant, Okla., Ardmore Industrial Airpark, and Westport Industrial Complex, also located in Ardmore.

is located at the confluence of the Arkansas, Grand and Verdigris Rivers, the Port of Muskogee is a prime location to ship bulk cargo anywhere in the world via the McClellan-Kerr Arkansas Navigation System.

The Port of Muskogee utilizes its FTZ designation to help create capacity at coastal ports by offering more slack to the overall system. As trade in Oklahoma is expected to increase due to the state’s ideal location to foreign markets, the Port of Muskogee is investing more than $50 million in infrastructure improvements to make it more competitive and better positioned for growth and investment.
